Generator output against real hip windows, left-leg channels (standardized units)

real windows (3 overlaid) generated windows (3 overlaid)

Per-channel scale:
does the generator match the data's spread?

